HOME SEARCH ARCHIVE Buy Reprints from the NYT Store

SUBJECTS

Louisiana Police Guard Farmer At Rites for Slain Negro Deputy

VARNADO, La., June 9 — O'Neal Moore, a Negro deputy sheriff gunned down by night riders June 2, was buried here today by his church and family without fanfare.

CONTINUE READING: PDF

BYLINE
By ROY REED

PUBLISH DATE
June 10, 1965

Louisiana Police Gua... At Rites for Slain Neg... L

By ROY REED
Special to The New York Times

VARNADO, La., June 9 — O'Neal Moore, a Negro deputy sheriff gunned down by night riders June 2, was buried here today by his church and family without fanfare.

There were only a few reminders that the murder of the first Negro law officer in Washington Parish (county) was considered a civil rights outrage.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial other Neg... dep... Rogers, drove thro... lage of Varnado... Wednesday. Mr. ... wounded in the left ... eyes were injured ... crashed into a tree ... New Orleans hospit... There was one o... minder of the nat... Moore's death and ... tension gripping ... Parish and its chief ... lusa, seven miles so...

erms of Service | Privacy | Help | Feedback | TimesMachine Home | IP: 68.11.33.146